Mumbai is a melting pot of culinary delights with a vibrant street food culture. Hence, it makes sense to borrow elements and to reinterpret popular street food to create something that's familiar and yet refreshingly new. Here's a list you can refer to the next time you want to sample comforting street food dishes with a twist.

BAMBAIYA PAV BHAJI SIZZLER

The sizzler is a monsoon favourite, while the pav bhaji is an all-season street fare. You get the best of both worlds with executive chef Siddharth Kalyanaraman special Bambaiya sizzler. He says “We serve asli makhan pav bhaji served with two types of pav — buttered and masala pav and subz pulao. Accompanied with freshly steamed vegetables, peas, sautéed onions, grilled tomato, spinach and potato chips. Topped with khau gali vada, served with chopped onions and a lemon wedge.”
